WEATHER BULLETIN.

A Dangerous Storm Coming—Storm Centers—Cause of Weather Changes.

Copyrighted 1894 by W. T. Foster.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 10.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from March 12th to 16th and the next will reach the Pacific Coast about the 17th, cross the western mountains by close of the 18th, the great central valleys from 19th to 21st and the Eastern States about the 22nd.

This storm will be of wide extent, a dangerous storm especially in and east of the Mississippi Valley.

The warm wave will cross the western mountains about the 17th, the great central valleys about the 19th and the Eastern States about the 21st. The cool wave will cross the western mountains about the 20th, the great central valleys about the 22nd and the Eastern States about the 24th. The cool wave will be most severe in the great central valleys about 21st or 22nd and will cause blizzards in some places.

THIRD-CLASS LOWS.

We have four permanent highs covering the north and south Pacific and Atlantic oceans; also two north and two south magnetic poles. Through these six the earth inhales the ether of space and through them principally come the influences from the sun, moon and planets which cause the changes in our weather.

Permanent lows hang over the north and south poles of the earth, over the Atlantic and Pacific oceans at the earth's equator, over the Behring Sea and over Iceland and a large space surrounding it. Through these permanent lows the ether escapes from the earth, and goes into space. This movement of the ether is called electricity and it keeps our atmosphere constantly in motion.

The transient high and low barometers constitute the third-class. They move around the earth north of 20 degrees south latitude. These lows with their accompanying highs are the immediate causes of rain and snow.

The lows are called storm centers and this conveys a correct idea for the countries of the United States and Canada lying east of the Rockies, but an erroneous idea for many other countries.

A low is a storm center when it enters a permanent high, but it is the high that comes the storm center, or rather the storm wave, when they enter the permanent low. The transient low and high move together around the earth and it is the difference between them and the surrounding conditions of the atmosphere that causes the extreme and sudden changes in the weather.

A periodical high covers the United States in winter and the lows cause the principal precipitation because the greatest difference in pressure then occurs between these transient lows and the surrounding high. But in summer the highs cause the principal precipitation because the periodical low then covers the continent and the steep gradient, as the difference in pressure is called, occurs between the high and the surrounding general low.

Just here it will require careful thinking not to get bewildered in these terms. While the transient low is the rain or snow maker in winter at the same time its mate and accompanying high is the ruling force, because the sun is south of the equator. The transient low is always the ruling force on that side of the earth's equator where the sun is, at the time, located and the transient high is the ruling force on that side of the earth's equator opposite the sun's location.

From first of April to first of October, the summer months, the transient high barometer is the rain maker and the low is the directing force of the storms, and during the balance of the year, the winter months, the transient lows cause the precipitation and the highs direct the movements of the storms.

The above applies only to those parts of this continent that are covered by a periodical low in summer and a periodical high in winter and therefore does not apply to Florida and countries near the mouths of the St. Lawrence and Columbia rivers.

The countries near the mouth of the St. Lawrence are constantly under the influence of the permanent Icelandic low, while Florida and the countries near the mouth of the Columbia have regular rainy and dry seasons.

CAUSE OF WEATHER CHANGES.

Through the three classes of high and low barometers, which I have discussed in several recent bulletins, the earth receives the magnetic influence of the sun, moon and planets and these influences cause all our weather changes.

The remainder of the information along this line is my secret, not yet worked out. The liberal patronage I am receiving, however, has enabled me to employ an assistant and we are going to the bottom of planetary meteorology as rapidly as time and our energies will permit.

Our plan of work is to take the official weather records of the United States and of other countries and by these records put all my theories, not already tested, through a comparison with these official records.

In October, 1891, Prof. Frank H. Bigelow was appointed as professor of meteorology in the national weather bureau at Washington. He is an able, competent, finished scholar and has stood alone as an advocate of solar meteorology. His theories are close akin to mine but do not extend to the moon and planets. His work is valuable in that he is placing on record many facts in reference to solar electromagnetism that will be of great value to planetary meteorologists.

But I believe he will fail to establish long-range forecasts by his calculations because he does not go deep enough to find the real causes. He and the weather bureau have in their support all the money and appliances that could be desired. They are paid for their work by the government and of course they must publish the results of their investigations.

I know that I have discovered the long hidden secrets of nature as to the cause of weather changes and if the public will bear with an occasional error till I have time to work out the results of the complicated causes I will give them such wonderfully correct forecasts of coming weather events as the wisest weather heads have never dreamed of.

WHAT THE SILVER STATE SAID.

Just to Jog the "Gazette's" Memory.

The Silver State says it is a Populist and will stand by that banner though the heavens fall. We will wait and see what we shall see.—Gazette Publishing Company.

The above conveys a vague idea of what the Silver State did say but here it speaks for itself:

"For the benefit of the Reno Gazette, which is an 'international bimetalist' because Harrison says it is the 'proper thing you know,' the Silver State will say that it is proud to be termed a friend of that noble band of freemen that are battling for Nevada and the nation's life, namely the Populists. This paper was the first paper in the campaign of 1892 to declare that the only candidate that an honest voter in Nevada could support would be the nominee of the Omaha convention, and that was before either the Republicans or Democrats had held their national conventions, but the handwriting on the wall was so plain that any one could read that the nominees would be either Harrison and Cleveland, or some other goldbug equally as bitter against silver, hence the stand taken by us then and which has not changed one iota since then, the Gazette or any one else to the contrary. We look upon the Silver party of Nevada as simply a faithful ally of the People's party of the nation—the only national party today on the face of God's green earth that is not ashamed to come out and say that it believes in the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. No 'international bimetalism' about that. So far as Harrison and Cleveland are concerned, in the language of Senator Stewart, they are 'both tarred with the same stick' and although we voted for Harrison once, we know we have been forgiven for the sin, as we have repented and sincerely too, long ago. We believe he is the more dangerous enemy of the two. Cleveland has at least the manhood to declare himself an open enemy whilst Harrison poses as a 'bimetalist' when he comes west and when in New York is as deep dyed a goldbug as Cleveland. Yes, we respect Cleveland the more because we can respect a man that at least comes out openly and declares himself, even if we cannot agree with him, but when any man or paper is first one thing and then another, and no one knows where to find him, or it, we can find no language too strong to express our disgust.

"Just to jog the Gazette's memory, as it must surely have forgotten the fact, although the people have not, in the last campaign it supported Senator Stewart, as a candidate for reelection—that is, it filled up its editorial columns one day with praise of the Senator and the next day came out with red-hot articles for the Republican legislative candidates, who everybody knew were against the Senator—and further, in its accounts of the Silver party meetings it spoke very highly of the sentiment expressed by Mr. Newlands, while it could not find language strong enough to condemn the same sentiments expressed by Mr. Wren from the same platform.

"A newspaper that can suit its editorial columns for any condition or situation, as the Gazette has in the past and can do no doubt in the future, should at least admire steadfastness in a contemporary that 'hews to the line,' even if it does not agree with it. All the unsubsidized papers in Nevada are working in perfect unanimity and in line for the success of the Silver party, and will carry that party to victory this year by a larger majority than in the year of 1892—and don't you forget it.

THE BIG PUGILISTS.

A Comparison of the Physical Proportions of Corbett and Jackson.

A New York dispatch says a comparison of the proportions of Corbett and Jackson show that in most points they are exceedingly well matched. The Australian has the better developed shoulders. Corbett is 6 feet 2 inches in height; Jackson, 6 feet 1/2 inch. A tape encircling the shoulder and chest would prove Jackson to have the most expansive driving machinery. Here are the dimensions:

	Corbett.	Jackson.
Chest, inches.....	42 1/2	43 1/2
Waist, inches.....	34 1/2	35 1/2
Reach, inches.....	64	65
Thigh, inches.....	24	25
Width of shoulders, inches.....	24	25
Circumference of neck, inches.....	15	17 1/2
Forearms, inches.....	13 1/2	14 1/2
Forearms, inches.....	13 1/2	14 1/2
Weight, pounds.....	155	165

Dr. John W. Gibbs has made arrangements to take all Jackson's measurements, and estimate the force of his blow, beside passing upon his general physical condition. The same process was undergone by Corbett before his fights with Sullivan and Mitchell, and while the test in the latter instance served to convey Corbett's physical superiority over the Englishman, Sullivan's powers were clearly demonstrated to be far superior to those of the Californian, who whipped John L. Sullivan with ease. Jackson never has been put under this method of analysis and much interest is expressed in the way he will show up.

THE MCCONNELL CASE.

It is Amicably Settled in San Francisco.

The celebrated McConnell case has been amicably settled. The Silver State says McConnell released Sloan & Co. from all damages for false imprisonment and they released him from all debts due them, and advanced money to pay all his debts at Spokane, they to receive all the goods of McConnell now in the hands of a receiver and out of the proceeds pay $7,000 due members of McConnell's family. It is claimed that McConnell turned over to the receiver for the benefit of all his creditors property of the value of $5,000 more than his debts, considerable of which has since been sacrificed. We would not be surprised if McConnell is offered a partnership interest in the old firm of Sloan & Co. His reputation in Washington is universally declared to be that of an honest young man.

NEVADA DAY.

It Will Probably Be Postponed Until June.

It was announced by Governor Colcord some time ago that "Nevada Day" at the Midwinter Fair would be March 22d. As the Nevada exhibit is not yet arranged it has been decided to postpone the ceremonies until later in the season. The Carson papers say the day has not yet been determined, but it will probably be some time in June.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Scrofula Cured—Blood Purified by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: I was with pleasure that I send a testimonial concerning what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for my daughter. It is a wonderful medicine and I cannot recommend it too highly. Sarah, who is fourteen years old, has been ever since she was one year old. For five years she has had a running sore on one side of her face. We tried every remedy recommended, but nothing did her any good until we commenced using Hood's Sarsaparilla. My married daughter advised me to use Hood's Sarsaparilla because it had cured her of dyspepsia. She had been troubled with that complaint since childhood, and since her cure she has never been without a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. We commenced giving it to Sarah about one year ago, and it has conquered the running sore."

Only a Scar Remaining
As a trace of the dreadful disease. Previous to taking the medicine her eyesight was affected but now she can see perfectly. In connection with Hood's Sarsaparilla we have used Hood's Vegetable Pills, and then the best." Mrs. MARY GRIFIN, Xenia, Illinois.

THE GREAT PACIFIC.

The Advantage of Circle Sailing on an Area of Water 80 Years Old.

The Pacific is the great ocean of our planet. In comparison with it the north Atlantic is a mere strait and the Indian ocean nothing more than the submerged bench of a congeries of drowned islands. Along the line of 70 degrees south latitude the width of the Pacific is 135 degrees of longitude, over one-third of the circumference of the globe. Between it and the south polar continent nothing intervenes. The southern continent was probably at one time rounded off by the country which is now divided between Alaska and Siberia.
When the glacial masses moved to the pole, the polar current clove its way through Behring straits and interposed Behring sea between the Pacific and the polar ocean.

It presents every form of ocean geography. At the two extremities it is shallow. There is a bench running along the Aleutian islands into the gulf of Alaska which comes within 100 fathoms of the surface, with occasional holes so deep that no apparatus can find the bottom and be recovered without breaking the wire, and there is a corresponding bench in the southwest portion of the sea west of the meridian of 180 degrees where 100 fathoms is also the average.
Between this last bench and the latitude of 38 degrees north there is a range of submarine rocky mountains with steep cliffs and sharp descents. Three or four distinct mountain ridges with from two to three miles of water between them have been counted between the Hawaiian Islands and Australia.

On the Pacific can be found every variety of temperature and meteorology.
Out of Behring sea pours the icy current which cools our shore in summer warmer than the Atlantic gulf stream, while the current which sweeps around the south capo of Tasmania bears on its bosom the longest icebergs ever seen.
As its name indicates, it is a Pacific ocean, swept by gentle trade winds, but the most terrible typhoons described in meteorological records have varied the chronicles of its placid surface.

On a sea of such extent circle sailing must become a matter of moment. The Canadian steamers, sailing from Yokohama in 35 degrees to Victoria in 49 degrees, cross the meridian of 180 degrees in 52 degrees, having covered 4,200 miles on the voyage, while the Pacific Mail steamers, sailing by what appears on the map to be the straight line, have to cover 4,790 miles between San Francisco and Yokohama. Assuming the vessels to be equal in speed and to steam at the usual rate of sea-going steamers on the Pacific, the Canadian line enjoys an advantage of about 36 hours over the American lines. This is reduced almost to nothing when our ships pursue the northern course and take the advantage of circle sailing.—San Francisco

Universal Hard Times Said to Be Unettling the Market for the Sparklers.

It will not be surprising if the universal hard times cause a great crash in the diamond market. It is well known that the great syndicate which has controlled the price of precious stones in the past few years finds the enormously increased production, combined with the steadily shrinking market, a very difficult condition to deal with.

Oecil Rhodes, the virtual king of South Africa, told the stockholders of the consolidated De Beers mines at Cape Town, on Thursday, that the cause of the present depression in the diamond trade was to be found in America, which took one-third of the world's production. These mines have long been the greatest producers, but only of the two other South African companies has recently much increased its output in spite of the control exercised by the syndicate. It is now possible to obtain small diamonds in London at astonishingly low figures. No cutting of prices has yet been made by reputable jewelers in the retail trade, but the supply of small stones is so enormous that those who know the ropes can buy them at 20 to 50 per cent of the prices of 1892.

In the Quicksands.

An Atlantic City correspondent of the Philadelphia Times says that J. P. Heraty, a young Philadelphian stopping at the Mansion House, had an exciting adventure which but for the opportune arrival of assistance might have resulted in his death. Heraty was driving a pair of spirited horses along the beach from South Atlantic City when the animals plunged into quicksand. Heraty held the lines and was pulled from the carriage. He was kicked several times by the floundering horses and was lying unconscious, with the waves washing over him, when several laborers who witnessed the accident came to his aid. The horses were hauled breast deep in the sand and were taken out with much difficulty.

A Clever Escape.

Jasper Hill escaped from jail here at 7 o'clock Monday morning by a clever trick. The sheriff had the evening before admitted a couple of tramps to the jail, who applied for lodgings. At 7 o'clock this morning the sheriff opened the door to release them, when Jasper, disguised as one of the tramps, passed out to freedom. It was 15 minutes before the officer discovered the deception, and the escaped convict had reached the woods at the outskirts of the city.—

Fish Strangely Brought to Air.

During the cold weather the Horsehoe slough at Peatonito was frozen to such a depth as to freeze the fish fast in the ice. Now that the ice has thawed some thousands of fish can be seen protruding from the ice. Several fish that were near the bottom have been chopped up and found to be quite lively after being left a little while in cold water.—Rock-

BALD HEADS!

What is the condition of yours? Is your hair dry, harsh, brittle? Does it split at the ends? Has it a lifeless appearance? Does it fall out when combed or brushed? Is it full of dandruff? Does your scalp itch?
Is it dry or in a heated condition? If these are some of your symptoms be warned in time or you will become bald.

Skookum Root Hair Grower

Is what you need. Its production is not an accident, but the result of scientific research. Knowledge of the diseases of the hair and scalp led to the discovery of how to treat them. "Skookum" contains neither mineral nor oil. It is not a dye, but a deliciously cooling and refreshing tonic. By stimulating the follicles, it stops falling hair, cures dandruff and grows hair on bald heads.

Keep the scalp clean, healthy, and free from irritating eruptions, by the use of Skookum Root Hair Grower. It destroys parasitic insects, which feed on and destroy the hair.

If your druggist cannot supply you send direct to us, and we will forward prepaid, on receipt of price. Grower, $1.00 per bottle; 6 for $5.00. Soap, 50c per box (4 for $2.00).

Timorel, an Italian painter, in a picture of the "Children of Israel" gathering manna, has taken the precaution to arm them with the modern invention of guns. Cigoli painted the aged Simeon at the circumference of the infant Saviour, and as aged men in these days wear spectacles the painter has shown his sagacity by placing them on Simeon's nose. In a picture by Verrio of "Christ Healing the Sick" the lookers on are represented as standing with periwig on their heads. To match, or rather exceed, this ludicrous representation, Durer has painted "The Expulsion of Adam and Eve From the Garden of Eden" by an angel in a dress fashionably trimmed with flourishes. The same painter, in his scene of "Peter Denying Christ," represents a Roman soldier very comfortably smoking a pipe of tobacco.—Exchange.
